It's a beautiful day

Garden of the Year Award 2011

A day at Castle Howard is about so much more than discovering one of England's finest historic houses.

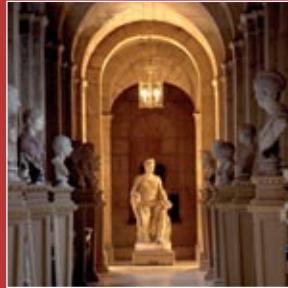

Designed by Sir John Vanbrugh for the 3rd Earl of Carlisle, the stunning interiors are the perfect backdrop to world-famous collections; from frescos and furniture to paintings and porcelain. However, Castle Howard is not just about magnificent architecture and exhibits; it is also home to the Hon. Simon and Mrs Howard, who live here with their children, Merlin and Octavia.

Inside the house friendly and knowledgeable guides bring alive the stories of Castle Howard – from tales of the Grand Tour and Rosalind the Radical 9th Countess, through to the recent restoration of fire-damaged rooms and the installation of a new eco-friendly ground source heating system. There really is something for everyone to enjoy.

New for 2011

Artist & Aristocrat: George Howard, 9th Earl of Carlisle (1843-1911) A Centenary Exhibition

A major exhibition of the paintings and drawings of George Howard, 9th Earl of Carlisle, to commemorate the centenary of his death.

His life and work was influenced by his close relationships with key figures in the Pre-Raphaelite movement, most especially William Morris and Edward Burne-Jones. On display is a rich selection of his paintings – many of them never seen in public before – together with examples of his sketchbooks and correspondence drawn from private archives.

Other Exhibitions

Witness the extraordinary transformation of the burnt-out High South, from derelict room to film set for the film adaptation of Brideshead Revisited, and discover how Evelyn Waugh's novel came to be filmed not just once – but twice – at Castle Howard. In the South East Wing, Maids & Mistresses celebrates the lives and accomplishments of the women of Castle Howard, and acknowledges the vital role women played in the history of this great estate.

Talks, Walks & Private Views

Enhance your visit to Castle Howard in the company of our Curator, Dr Christopher Ridgway, who will be delivering a programme of entertaining and informative talks, tours and private views. Get close to documents, books and objects from the collections, and afterwards share the excitement of your discoveries with fellow visitors over wine and canapés. Visit our website for more details.

Maids & Mistresses

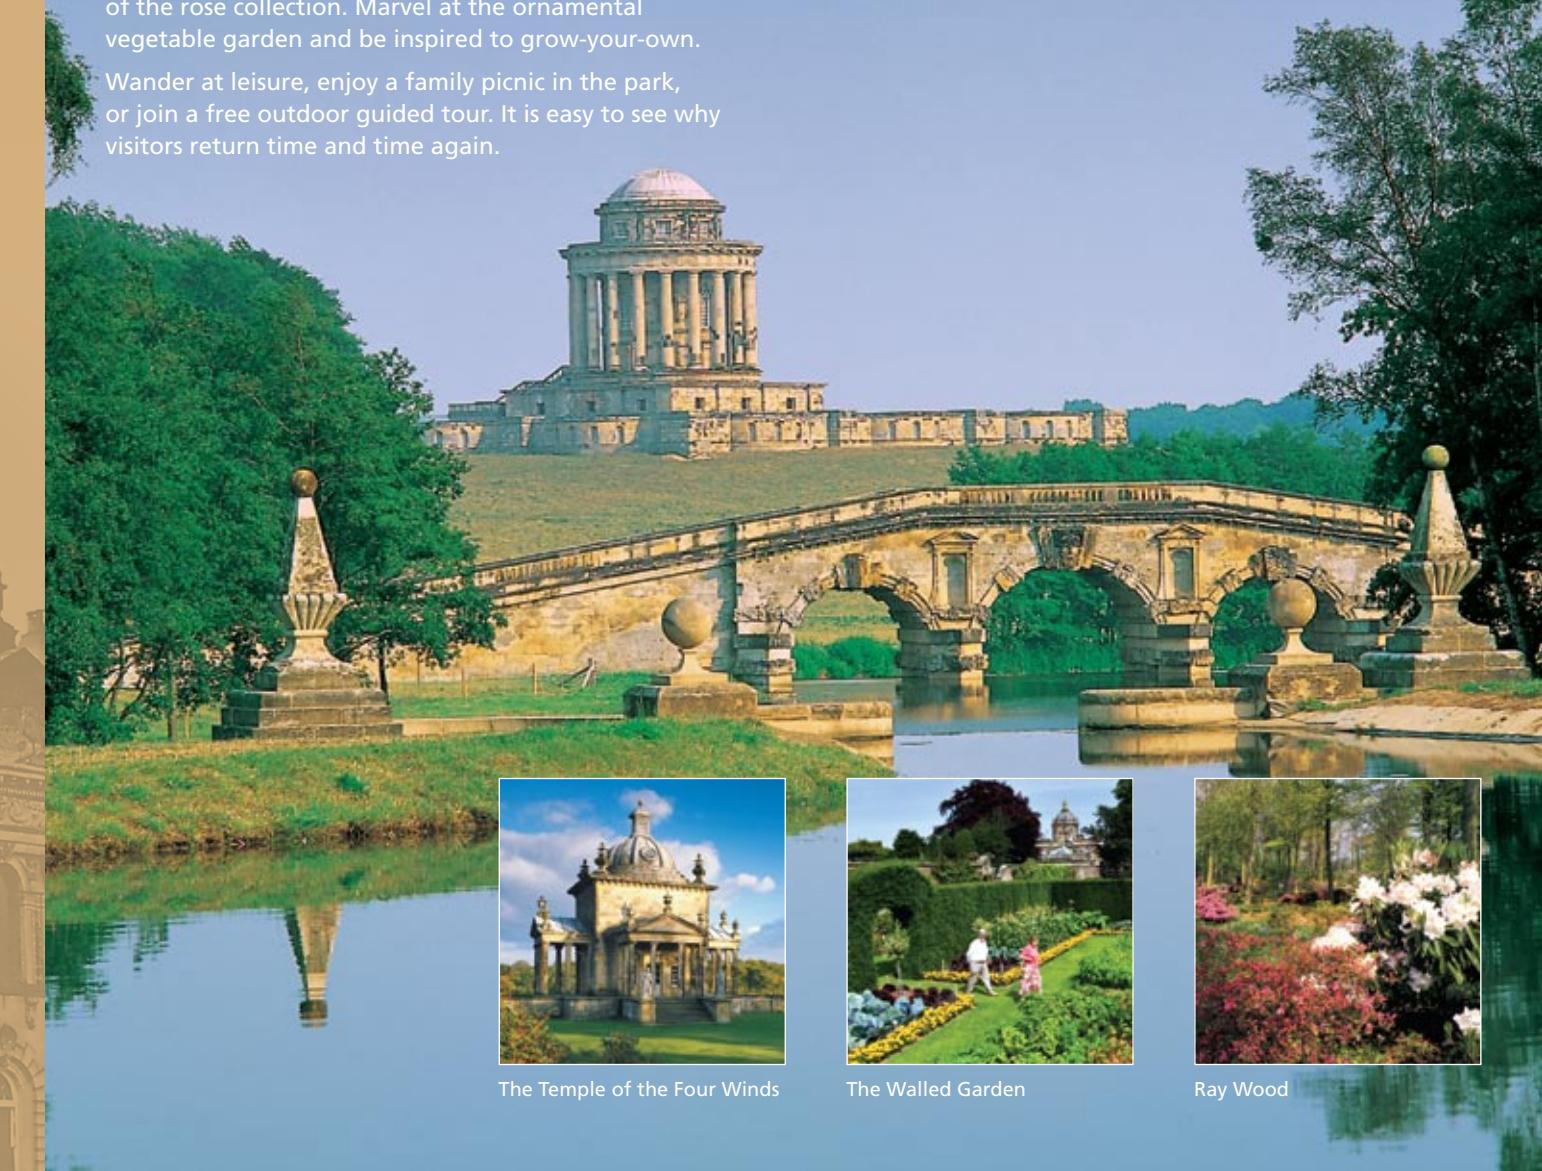

The High South

Breathtaking, awe-inspiring and sublime are amongst the most widely used words to describe Castle Howard's grounds. With its statues, temples, lakes and fountains, the magnificent landscape perfectly echoes the grandeur of the house.

On a more intimate scale, the maze of paths through Ray Wood reveal seasonal displays of snowdrops, bluebells, rhododendrons and magnolias. In the 18th-century walled garden enjoy the fragrance and romance of the rose collection. Marvel at the ornamental vegetable garden and be inspired to grow-your-own.

Wander at leisure, enjoy a family picnic in the park, or join a free outdoor guided tour. It is easy to see why visitors return time and time again.

Play & Adventure

All young visitors to Castle Howard receive free copies of Geoffrey the Lion's illustrated trails to entertain them as they explore the house and grounds.

Take a ride on the tractor-train to the lakeside adventure playground – it's perfect for all ages to let off steam, including parents. At the lakeside you can also take a boat trip onto the Great Lake (summer holiday weekends, weather permitting) or simply enjoy an ice-cream while watching the birdlife on the lake.

Young visitors – however lively or inquisitive – are warmly welcomed inside the house. Our child-friendly guides will spark youngsters' interest as they discover each room through the characters and stories of previous generations.

Eating & Drinking

In the courtyard, with free admission and parking, the bistro-style Courtyard Café offers seasonal menus throughout the year – even when the house is closed. Its relaxed ambience entices many locals to stop by for a freshly-ground coffee after visiting the Farm Shop and Garden Centre, or – if the sun is shining – a glass of wine in the continental-style outside dining area.

From simple snacks at the Lakeside Café, to traditional country house cooking at the self-service Fitzroy Room, there is something for all tastes and budgets when visiting the house and gardens. Both cafés offer plenty of seating inside and out.

Our menus are freshly prepared each day by our team of chefs, using locally sourced produce wherever possible.

Shopping

Gift Shops: Castle Howard's three gift shops offer a range of traditional gifts and souvenirs, including ranges inspired by the collections; as well as home-ware, clothing, books and toys.

The Farm Shop: From estate-reared meat to home-baked cakes, from local cheese to speciality bread – you'll find it here. Create your own picnic or take home delicious teatime treats.

The Garden Centre: Ask one of our friendly staff for gardening advice; buy a tree grown on the estate, or splash out on anything and everything from a plant pot to garden furniture.

Free admission and parking to the courtyard Gift Shops, Garden Centre, Farm Shop and Café.

The Lakeside Holiday Park

Sometimes a day just isn't enough to experience all that Castle Howard has to offer, which is why we welcome caravan and camping visitors to our peaceful site by the Great Lake. We also have a number of static holiday homes available to buy. The holiday park is perfectly located for exploring the bridleways and villages of the Howardian Hills, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty; with the city of York, the North York Moors and coast within easy reach. Visit www.castlehoward.co.uk for more information or call 01653 648316 (caravans and camping), or 01653 648576 (holiday home sales).
